

Second conference - Acclimaterra

Local authorities and territories facing climate change

After the first conference given by Antoine Kremer, the cycle is well set in motion.

To follow up right on the same track, the second conference will introduce to you the challenge local authorities and territories are faced with when tackling the issue of climate change: how do they manage to cope with issues related to environment and energy transition, and what solution are they offering ?

On December 3rd and 4th, Pau Pyrénées Béarn urban area's, the Agency for the Environment and Energy Management (ADEME) and the UPPA invite you for two days of study on local actions in the face of climate change.

Let's see how anticipation and forecast studies can be linked with development and action plans to reach an objective.
