

Nature = Future!

Nature = Future! is an unprecedented series of short films focused on biomimicry and bio-inspiration that presents sustainable solutions inspired by Nature and the living world.

These films highlight research and innovations in all fields: agriculture, food, architecture, housing, transportation, health, industry, technology, energy production and consumption, pollution control, waste treatment, circular economy... They underline the extent to which the biomimicry approach responds to the challenges of both an ecological transition and a sustainable development.

Knowledge of living species offers a reservoir of solutions proven and tested by Nature, for millions of years, in order to resolve multiple crises.

« Our future is in nature! »

Let's be inspired by Nature to innovate in a sustainable way and preserve biodiversity at all costs!
