Innovation in teaching

Most of our colleagues know how they would improve their teaching practices but can not do as they wish as they actually may face three kinds of obstacles: a lack of time (the greatest barrier), a lack of financial resources and, sometimes, a need for other competences.

Through the “Innovation in teaching” call of project, E2S UPPA gives to the laureates the means to devote themselves to their project. This support can be a partial release of duty, a technical and pedagogical support from the University services (mainly ARTICE) or new equipment - when required e.g.

Since 2017, each year, this call has allowed the implementation of many new practices and thus further increased the quality of the concerned teaching programmes.