E2S UPPA's strategy in terms of Education

An increased visibility of our programmes and an higher quality of education are, with the strengthening of research and the deepening of partnership with companies, one of the main assets of the E2S UPPA project.

For this, our action is organised along the following main lines: first, reinforce the internationalization of education then encourage teachers and researchers to innovate in terms of pedagogy or to renew their practices.

“Reinforce internationalization” means to make our students able to work and study abroad and benefit from all the scientific resources outside their country. It also means to increase the visibility of our programmes while highlighting their quality and, by attracting talented teachers and students, make it still greater.

“Encourage teachers to innovate” means to grant them both time and means so as to allow them to create and develop new methods, often linked with the increasing use of digital resources.

We have therefore implemented four main devices:

- * the internationalisation of “Master Programmes” (scientific courses taught in English),
- * a “Talents Academy” scholarship programme, to attract promising students and
- * an “Innovation in Teaching” call for project.
- * a cycle of conferences intended to all students
